A Junckers floor is for real life

There is no substitute for quality. This has been our premise since Junckers began producing solid wooden floors some 80 years ago. Our floors are made for life - meaning real people’s real lives, to look beautiful through generations of daily use. We employ unique manufacturing techniques synonymous only with Junckers, and each of our floors bears the hallmarks of remarkable craftsmanship. To date, we have supplied more than 100 million m² of solid wooden flooring to all corners of the world, from the White House in Washington to the Pushkin Museum in Moscow. But mostly, we supply to real people’s everyday lives.
Flemming Juncker, the founder of Junckers Industrier, was a forester. When he started the production of parquet floors in the 1930s, he tried to utilize the parts of the hardwood trees which were then only used as firewood. This resulted in a more profitable utilization of the wood resources and thus gave the forest owners a better financial basis for replanting and maintaining their forests.

Through the better utilization of the wood resources Flemming Juncker contributed to making forestry viable, and this is still Junckers’ philosophy. In the regions where we source our wood for sports and dance floors, new trees are planted to such an extent that the total forest area grows each year. This and the fact that the existing forests are thriving is living proof that they are well managed.

Junckers’ manufacturing process uses 100% of the wood. By-products such as bark, chippings and sawdust are used to fuel the on-site power plant providing electrical power and steam for use in the production of our flooring in Koege. Actually the contribution to production of energy is larger than what is possible to use at the Junckers factory and therefore the plant also provides electricity for the Danish national grid.

Junckers is chain of custody certified according to both the timber certification schemes PEFC and FSC. We will continue to work actively together with our local partners and international organizations to preserve the forests in a manner so as to leave forests for future generations to use.

FSC and PEFC are independent forest certification schemes. Both organizations work globally to promote legal and sustainable foresting, in order to secure nature, humans and resources.
Wood is good for you

A Junckers floor is a worry-free zone for your workplace and home. You, your family, children, guests, colleagues, cats or dogs can get on with everyday life without having to think about the floor. Dirt and dust cleans up quickly and easily. A vacuum cleaner or damp cleaning does the trick, renewing the crisp freshness that only wooden floors produce.

With mould spores, dust mites and other allergens short of places to hide, the room will be cleaner and healthier than with most other types of flooring. Add to this the fact that our solid floors are manufactured without the use of insecticides, i.e. PCP (pentachlorfenol), or laminating adhesives, and you will see why Junckers floors create truly worry-free zones. For you, and everyone in your life.

As a natural, living material solid wood creates wonders for your indoor climate. The temperature will remain even, due to the natural heat retention of wood. The level of humidity will be balanced, and, unlike carpeting and laminated floors, static electricity from IT equipment, TV screens and the like will be minimised due to the non-conducting composition of solid wood.
Dark ash is an extremely elegant wood in high demand for flooring as well as interior design in general. The white pigmented surface adds Nordic elegance while enhancing the lively structure of the wood.
Straightforward authenticity, light and timeless comfort are keys to Junckers ORIGINAL COLLECTION of Nordic hardwoods, ash and oak. These woods blend into classic interiors with natural ease, earned through generations of familiar service. Yet their understated, soft composure equally serves as a pleasing complement to the sharper lines of modern architecture. These floors are classic and confident and will enhance any interior style with their unaffected naturalness.
Nordic Light Ash

Light ash has a very fine, light expression with a characteristic grain structure. Over time it attains a golden tone. Ash grows naturally in mixed wood forests.
Dark Ash is very characteristic due to the distinct graining created by the nut-brown heartwood and the light parts of the wood – reminiscent of zebrawood.
Oak is extremely tough, durable and forgiving, making the wood exceptionally well suited to flooring. The structure is distinct in golden nuances and ages gracefully to a deeper glow. Oak grows across most of Europe.

Nordic Oak Boulevard
Black Oak was originally a natural product of the forest - yet it was no tree. In former days, black oak occurred when an oak trunk had rested a few hundred years in marshland.

A natural process turned the wood black. Junckers has recreated the distinct, exclusive expression through a unique full thickness vacuum dyeing process.

Textured Oak

Junckers unique brushed planks add texture to the floor, pleasing to look at and to touch. Via a special, hard brushing technique the soft wood is removed from the surface of the planks, leaving the grain more prominent. Textured oak can be combined with a number of striking surface treatments and colours from the design collection, to enhance the structure of the wood even more.

Pick your planks

No two trees are the same. No two cuts. No two planks. Each plays its own lyrical tune, composed by weather, seasons and forest wildlife for the best part of a century. That’s the very charm and challenge of working with wood. A Junckers floor will be just your floor. No copies.

To create a harmonious, individual result, we select and sort the wood for each floor. You can choose between three grades of graining:

Design freedom without pipes and heaters

Underfloor heating is an economical, luxurious and very elegant solution without visible pipes and heaters. It works to perfection under Junckers floors because, unlike tiles and stone, solid wood is naturally warm and pleasant, whether or not the heating is on. The result is not only a treat under bare feet, but also a comfortable, even room temperature.

Water-based underfloor heating is generally suited for residential and commercial buildings, while electrical systems are ideal for minor renovations. The unique Junckers Clip System enables the Junckers floor to be floated over most modern underfloor heating systems, fitted within a screed subfloor. Alternatively, the underfloor heating system can be placed between battens or joists with the Junckers boards nailed over the top.

Wood is a living material that changes slightly with the seasons. During summer periods of high humidity the floorboards will expand a little, just as they will contract during winter and dryer seasons, leaving small, natural gaps between them. This is the innate character of wood. However, applying Junckers Ship’s Decking System, neoprene strips between the boards will absorb the movements so that the floor will look the same all year round. More than that, the visible neoprene strips will enhance each board to create a spectacularly elegant floor that will appear equally harmonious and robust. Whatever the season, let your mind wander to warmer days at the beach.

All you need is free space

Junckers solid wooden floors are fast and easy to install. The laying method depends on the existing or planned conditions, the sub floor plus your wishes for height, underfloor heating, hidden cables and pipes, etc. Basically, if you have the free space, we have an easy way to lay your floor.
Clip System
» quick, easy and shallow in elevation
Junckers unique Clip System enables a floating floor to be fitted directly onto a screeded or wooden base, without the need for battens. This laying method works perfectly with underfloor heating and is excellent for reducing impact sound into rooms below.

Glued floor
» robust sound and feel
Junckers floors can be glued down to any base including screed, and wooden materials using the unique, environmentally friendly Junckers Parquet Glue. Based on silicone, the glue also serves as a moisture membrane. A glued floor provides a very robust, solid feel, reducing the sound underfoot within the room and gives you a free hand in making creative patterns in the floor.

Battens
» strong installation
Our 20.5 mm floors are structurally strong. They can be nailed to battens and joists to level out the floor and gives plenty of space for pipes, cables, insulation, underfloor heating and other technical requirements to be placed underneath the floorboards.
